MEMORIAL DAY

When the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, General John A. Logan, issued the order designating May 30th, 1868, as a day for decorating the graves of the men who fell in the War Between the States, he expressed the hope that it would be observed "from year to year while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of the departed."

The custom of thus paying homage to the war dead, which had originated in the South, and represented at that time the only spontaneous local activity on the part of a relatively few women and children, thus came into being. The appeal of such an annual commemoration to large numbers of people was soon demonstrated throughout the reunited Republic.

By 1900, President William McKinley, himself a Union veteran, declared: "The army of Grant and the army of Lee are together. They are now one in faith, in hope, in fraternity, in purpose and in an invincible patriotism."

Memorial Day, observed annually since that time, reminds us that human freedom was bought at a great price and that anything we would have here in this country must be obtained and preserved by hard work and consecrated effort.

Since "The noblest memorial to a hero is not reverence for his dead bones, but the reproduction of his heroism," Memorial Day should not only be a day of remembrance but also a day of consecration for the present and the future to the ideals which have made our nation great. It should be a time of renewal of our faith in God and His gracious Providence, remembering that we are not creatures of chance nor blind circumstances, but that we have been led and guided by the sure hand of God.

CONSERVATIVES GAIN

In England, in the recent borough elections, the Conservative Party made considerable gains, while the Labor Party suffered surprising losses. This leads to the conclusion that the Conservative Party has gained strength, and could—this year—hold elections and retain control of the British Government.

Because the Conservative Government in Great Britain has consistently inclined to a tighter bond with Washington, the United States is interested in the relative strength of the Labor and the Conservative parties in Great Britain.

Thus the results of the recent elections are gratifying to most Americans. For in 1956, in that year's borough elections, the Labor Party showed considerable gains, and the approach of a new national election, to choose members of Parliament, had caused some doubts about political observers—as to the outcome.

Of course, the recent borough elections are not a certain assurance that a general election would have, this month, maintained Prime Minister Macmillan's ministry in office, or even maintained his present Parliamentary majority. This conclusion cannot be justified on the basis of the borough elections.

On the other hand, it is true that the Conservatives have regained the borough seats they lost to Labor in 1956, and then added about fifty additional seats, and this is particularly significant, for in the marginal areas the trend seems to be to the right, or to the Conservatives.

DO-IT-YOURSELF DANGERS

Safety experts, probing the current trend to "do-it-yourself," which the American public is fast accepting, have found that the dangers encountered by Mr. Fixit include many new sprays, power tools, new insecticides and so on.

It was noted that almost every spray, paint, enamel or lacquer which blows out in mist form when a button is pressed on a can or bottle, is inflammable. Many users may not take this into consideration.

Accident-types which seem to have resulted in the most casualties are amateur carpentry, replacing broken window panes, painting the exterior of one's home, cleaning awnings or repairing gutters.

These are old dangers, but ther e are lots of new dangers to be added to the list, such as use by inexperienced amateurs of power tools, and inflammable materials.

Washington Notes

Tax Repeal Urged

Repeal of the 10 per cent Federal tax on passenger - travel fares has been urged by the Senate Commerce Committee.

The committee actually has no authority over tax measures, but it made its recommendation recently in a resolution pledging support of a bill to repeal the tax.

Opposes Confirmation

Senator Long (D., La.) has gone on record as opposing speedy Senate approval of C. Douglass Dillon's promotion to the No. 2 spot in the State Department.

Long is the only announced opponent of the nomination.

Labor Lobbies

Labor unions, through breakfasts for congressmen and other forms of lobbying, are mounting a growing drive to revamp sharply or kill the Senate-passed Kennedy - Ervin labor bill.

J. Edgar Hoover Praised

FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover was described in the Senate as a "towering bulwark of integrity, courage and bravery."

Senator Bridges (R., N.H.) used that phrase while praising Hoover, who marked his thirty-fifth anniversary as FBI director. Other senators joined in congratulating and praising him.

To Raise Special Fund

President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon have agreed to help congressional campaigners in their efforts to raise a special fund of about $400,000.

Eisenhower and Nixon have accepted invitations to be the chief attractions at a $110-a-plate dinner on June 8th honoring Republican members of Congress.

Eisenhower and Nixon are billed only for informal remarks. According to present plans, they won't be any speeches.

More On Carrier Request

President Eisenhower's request for $260,000,000 to build a new super aircraft carrier reportedly has been turned down by a House Appropriation subcommittee.

Instead, the seventeen-man group has decided, the money should be spent to beef up anti-submarine and missile programs and to maintain stronger Reserve and National Guard forces.

Aid Loan Funds

The Senate has sent to the White House a money bill carrying $150,000,000 of the $225,000,000 asked by the President for loans to under-developed nations.

It approved the figure after having turned back an effort by Senator Russell B. Long, Democrat of Louisasiana, to renew a fight with the House of Representatives over Army and Marine Corps manpower levels. A move to increase the two forces was beaten.

PERMANENT PASTURES NEED A HELPER

Permanent pasture will need a helper during the summer months, John F. Shoulders, associate agronomist at VPI, says sudan grass or pearl millet will help provide additional grazing for livestock during the critical pasture months. Either crop grows best when permanent pastures are likely to be least productive.

A third to one-half acre of sudan grass or pearl millet will usually provide enough grazing for one animal during the critical period. The productive period of this supplemental pasture can be lengthened by seeding half the acreage early and the rest a month to six weeks later. Either crop may be seeded any time now up until about July 1, and should be ready for grazing 6 to 8 weeks after seeding.

Recommended varieties for sudan grass for Virginia are Greenleaf, Caraf, Sweet Sudan. Recipities of millet are and Commercial Pa 1 is a new variety very good in expe generally available millet, be sure to and not foxtail mi let will not recove

ALL-ELECTRIC KITCHEN

HOME ADVISOR: You can put a built-in Electric Range top exactly where you want it . . . even on a center island where you can reach it from any direction. And there are fold-back and slide-out models that give you extra counter space when you're not cooking.

YOU: But aren't you forgetting the oven?

HOME ADVISOR: Oh, a Built-In Electric Oven-Broiler takes no floor space at all! It fits into the wall or a room divider. And you can have it at just the right cooking height for you.

YOU: Is a built-in oven as roomy as one in a range?

HOME ADVISOR: You can get a size to fit your family. And with its automatic clock control, it can cook whole meals by itself.

And here are some more space savers. An Electric Dishwasher built-in under the sink top. An Electric Food Freezer that slides out like a drawer from a kitchen counter. Even a Refrigerator that hangs on the wall. So even if you're short of floor space you can still have an All-Electric Kitchen with smart looking, work-saving, space-saving Electric Built-Ins!
